Delaware County Libraries Offer Contactless Pickup

After weeks of library buildings being closed as a result of COVID-19, many Delaware County libraries are now offering contactless pickup of books and other materials. Patrons can call or email a library that owns the items that they would like to request. Staff will then pull the items, check them out, and make them available for pickup in a contactless manner. Details about each library's procedures can be found on individual library websites and at <http://www.delcolibraries.org/Coronavirus-Updates>.

"We are happy that we are able to begin restoring some library services by offering contactless pickup," says Delaware County Libraries Director Catherine Bittle. "We appreciate the patience of our library community as we work to meet residents' needs while making the safety of patrons and staff a priority." Please note, patrons are asked to wear masks and practice social distancing at all times when picking up materials.

Ebooks and audiobooks continue to be available and libraries will still hold virtual programming. Unfortunately, computer usage is unavailable at most locations as library buildings are still closed at this point. Check our website and social media pages for updates.

Delaware County Libraries is an agency of county government that provides support services for 26 independent member libraries. For information about the wide range of library services available to all county residents, visit www.delcolibraries.org.
